PRICE FIVE CENTS

Dr. Charles B. Stouffer, 93, Has Been Practicing Dentistry In This County For 66 Years

Dr. Charles Benjamin Stouffer, Baltimore St., oldest practicing dentist in the county, and possibly in the nation. Sunday will mark his 93rd birthday.

And the venerable nonagenarian had a new "first" to help mark the occasion. The 93-year-old dentist is the first man in his profession in this area to benefit by the 1956 amendments to the Social Security Act which provide Social Security coverage for dentists, lawyers, osteopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, naturopaths and optometrists.

And since he is over 72, the local dentist can continue to earn as much as he is able in the practice of his profession and still receive his Social Security benefits. Harry S. Smith of the Chambersburg Social Security office said today those under 72 can earn only up to $1,200 a year and continue to draw all their benefits, but after 72 anyone may earn as much as he can and still receive the benefits from Social Security. Smith and the entire Social Security system seem a little proud of the local dentist, as are most people locally. Smith believes Dr. Stouffer is at least one of the first dentists in the nation to receive Social Security benefits and adds that he may be "the first in the nation."

Feted On Birthday

Three years ago, on his 90th birthday, Doctor Stouffer was feted by his friends at a dinner held at the local Church of the Brethren of which he is a member. Judge W. C. Sheely was one of the speakers, noting he was present as an alumnus of the boys club Dr. Stouffer founded many years ago in the town. As the jurist put it then, "Long before the world juvenile delinquency was coined and long before there were persons devoting a lifetime to the study of how to combat it, Doctor Stouffer knew the answer intuitively. He established a club for the boys of the community and kept us so busy we didn't have time to get into mischief."

Dr. Stouffer was also active for many years in the Sabbath School association of the county and was most instrumental in having the copy of the Ten Commandments of the Court House.

Active in the Sons of Union Veterans for more than a half century he placed flowers on the graves of the unknown dead in the National Cemetery on Memorial Day and it was through his research and efforts that the Lincoln pew in the Presbyterian church was definitely located and marked.

COUNTY GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Minimum jail sentences totaling 60 days were imposed on Harold Dean Welsh, 24, of Gettysburg, a Mercersburg native, after he pleaded guilty Friday in Franklin County court, Chambersburg to charges of drunken driving and operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended. On the driving under suspension charge, Welsh was sentenced to serve 30 days from July 23 and to pay the prosecution costs.

On the drunken driving count, he was ordered to serve 30 days to four months in jail, dating from the expiration of the first sentence, and to pay a $200 fine and the prosecution costs.

RENEWS ATTACK ON DELAWARE COUNTY HOME

HARRISBURG (AP) — Harry Shapiro, public welfare secretary, renewed his attack today on what he termed inadequate medical facilities at the Delaware County Home.

In a letter to the county commissioners, Shapiro said a patient at the home, known as Fair Acres, suffered a heart attack, was taken to the infirmary but received no medical care.

"A doctor who was called two days before she died did not arrive in time to treat her," Shapiro wrote. "If you are proud of such conditions, the department is not."

Sends New Letter

Shapiro wrote the new letter after the county commissioners protested that Shapiro misused the term "shocking" in previously describing conditions at the hospital. J. Warren Bullen, Lansdowne, setting county commission chairman, said the Delaware County Medical Society has been asked to make an independent probe of the institution.

Administrators of the five hospitals in Delaware County also have asked to make a similar probe as have a group of clergymen, said Bullen.

Offers Evidence

In reply to Bullen's letter, Shapiro said he would offer these groups all the evidence turned up by his department investigators.

He said the institution has no medical program worthy of the name.

"The only physician on salary but only on call, is not providing proper medical care and proper medical service for over 200 patients in an infirmary," he said.

Shapiro also renewed his charges that there is no adequate record system of case histories for all ill patients, no control of medical distribution and dispensing, no recreational program, inadequate nursing routine, neglect of and inadequate supplies for incontinent patients and that the infirmary has no night nursing service.

York May End DST By September 28

The York County commissioners have hinted they would end Daylight Saving Time Sept. 28, aligning themselves with York Mayor Fred A. Schiding, who earlier this week said the city would not extend observance of fast time through October 26.

Two members of the county board, Harry C. Busser and Emory M. Kilgore, flatly stated they had no intention of remaining on Daylight Time as recommended in a recent newsletter of the York Chamber of Commerce.

Commissioner Kilgore noted that extension of Daylight Time through October would result in instances where children would have to board buses in the dark to go to school.

Upset Stomach Lands Two Burglars In Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — Robert Fite, 25, has a nervous stomach and it helped him land in jail.

Fite and Charles Reese, 30, had been questioned in two burglaries, but protested their innocence.

Evidence at the break-in at Klueber's, Inc., indicated one thief had become ill. And Fite, before questioning Friday, became sick.

That was the cue for Lt. Ernest Taylor to say sarcastically, "So you've been sick again—just like at Klueber's."

Fite blurted out, "I wasn't sick—that was Reese." And police said he finally admitted the $1,720 Klueber's burglary and another at which $420 was taken.

Sharks Clear Water Of New York Bathers

BAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—At the sight of three black fins cutting through the water toward the crowded bathing area, a cry of "shark" went up at Centre Island Beach Friday. Some 1,000 bathers headed landward in a hurry.

Three big fish cruised to within 15 feet of shore in four feet of depopulated water and then swam off.

The crew of a Nassau County police boat sprayed the water with a submachinegun fire, but was uncertain of scoring a hit.

For most of the beachgoers, swimming was finished for the day.

FANFANI WILL URGE NEW PLAN IN MIDDLE EAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Italy's new Prime Minister, Amintore Fanfani, is reported ready to urge President Eisenhower to join West European countries in a bold plan for economic development of Middle Eastern and North African countries.

This is understood to be Fanfani's main goal when he arrives Tuesday for two days of official talks with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

Eisenhower and Dulles seem certain to give Fanfani a warm reception as recognition of Italy's postwar record as a consistent and vigorous champion of Allied policies to stop communism.

Dust Off Old Plans

Dulles particularly is expected to listen to Fanfani's views with keen interest because of Dulles' shore up some positive plan to shore up a Middle East policy shattered by the Iraq revolt, Anglo-American troop landings in Jordan and Lebanon, and the swift onrush of pro-Nasser sentiment.

In line with this, top State Department officials are dusting off old plans for coordinated moves to attack some of the roots of Middle East tension, such as the Arab-refugee plight, Arab-Israeli border and the Mideast water shortage.

Fanfani is understood to have no single detailed program to lay before Eisenhower such as one drafted by Italian Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella last year which failed to win U.S. backing.

What Fanfani reportedly wants is an American pledge to support the principle of a multinational economic program for the Middle East in partnership with Mideast government. The United States is looked upon as the one to foot most of the bills.

Fanfani also is expected to take up two other issues: new moves for Western European unity and closer consultation on Allied pact members in cultural, economic and foreign policy fields.

Secretary Dulles Off To Bonn Friday

BONN, Germany (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles flew to Bonn today for a quick meeting with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on Middle Eastern and other problems before hurrying on to London.

Dulles scheduled a five-hour stop here on the way to a Baghdad Pact meeting.

The Middle East and the related question of a summit conference were expected to be the main topics of the Dulles-Adenauer talks. But the Chancellor was considered almost certain also to raise the vexing question of German assets seized as enemy property in the United States during World War II.

Dulles is due to return to Washington Tuesday.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Leader said today cooperation between free nations leads to strengthening friendship and called for such a bond between the United States and the new African nation of Ghana.

Nkrumah, who made an appearance in Washington Friday, was to be honored by the governor at a luncheon here preceded by an inspection of the Hershey chocolate factory. Hershey obtains cocoa beans from Ghana in manufacturing chocolate.

Miss Luz Mariana Zuloaga Of Colombia Is "Miss Universe"

By DIAL TORGERSO
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A flashing-eyed Latin beauty who never has been kissed—for real—is the new Miss Universe.

She is Luz Mariana Zuloaga, 19, of Manizales, Colombia.

"Only that actor kissed her," said her mother Margarita after her daughter was crowned Miss Universe for 1958 at ceremonies Friday night.

Luz Mariana is the second Latin girl in a row to claim the title.

Her predecessor, Gladys Zender of Peru, was there Friday night—and was the only one on the stage who cried when the winner was announced.

Miss U. S. A. Is Fourth
The four runner-up seemed delighted with the way things turned out. They are, in order:

Miss Brazil, Adalgisa Colombo, 16, of Rio de Janeiro, who declared, "I am very happy just to be where I am."

Miss Hawaii, tall Chinese-Hawaiian Geri Hoo, 18, of Honolulu. She said she had had eight different offers for television, movie and night club opportunities and couldn't be happier.

Miss U. S. A., Eurlene Howell, 18, Bossier City, La., who drawled, "I think it's just wonderful being third runner-up. I never did expect to win."

Talent Scouts Busy
Miss Poland, Alicja Bobrowska, 22, Krakow, who declared, through an interpreter, "I'm so extremely thrilled—not as a person, but because Poland was represented in this contest."

Motion picture talent scouts were busy backstage at Long Beach Municipal Auditorium after Miss Zuloaga accepted her crown.

The new Miss Universe sat upon the throne, a pearl-studded crown on her head and a scepter in her hand, as successive platoons of photographers jammed in to take her picture.

Speaks No English
Her mother, a widow, watched smiling as the flashbulbs lit up the girl's dark-haired beauty.

Like her mother, Luz speaks no English. She accepted the crown with the simple English words, "Thank you."

Luz has a flawless olive complexion, flashing black eyes, and at 5 feet 4 inches is the shortest of the girls who reached the semifinals.

Her mother assured newsmen, through an interpreter, that Luz had no aspirations for a stage or screen career.

"She has nothing but love in her heart for the man she will one day marry," said Mrs. Zuloaga. The lucky man, she added, has not yet come along.

Boy friends? Of course she has them, said mama. But she has no fiancé.

"HARD OLD WORLD"

It's a hard old world we live in . . . and the going's very rough . . . There's a problem at each turning . . . to survive we must be tough . . .

It's a world of strife and struggle . . . and a few belated cheers . . . yes, for every ounce of laughter . . . there's a pound of doubts and fears . . .

It's a world that's moving swiftly . . . there is little time for rest . . . we are in a torrid whirlpool . . . every day presents a test . . .

It's a world of pain and anguish . . . a little peace and much torment . . . seldom can we find a person . . . who is honestly content . . .

It's a world of trial and error . . . where we play a losing game . . . it's a hard old world we live in . . . but we love it just the same.

Pet Raccoon At Camp Easter Seal

Eleven-year-old Francis Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Miller, near Conecago Chapel, is shown above with an unidentified raccoon at Camp Easter Seal, near Somerset, as she feeds a pet raccoon a bottle of milk. Margaret was sent to the camp last month by the Adams County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. She will spend eight weeks at the camp.

Margaret, whose right leg is artificial since an amputation in early childhood, enjoys life at Camp Easter Seal with dozens of other handicapped youngsters.

They engage in sports and recreational activities, modified to accommodate their crippling condition, such as baseball, kick ball, badminton, archery, paddle ball, basketball. They also participate in woodland hikes, nature study, overnight camp-outs, cook-outs. And swimming is one of the main features of the camp in which all handicapped boys and girls participate under expert guidance and supervision.

Then, too, there are story telling periods in the campfire circle, crafts—such as leather and woodwork—in the craft shop, group singing in the recreational hall and around the campfire in early evening.

Camp days are full days for these handicapped boys and girls. In addition to all the activities in which they engage, they find, by association with others who are similarly handicapped, that it is ability and not disability that counts after all. Many friendships are formed in the camps and it is a rare instance when a handicapped boy or girl wants to go back home when the season ends.

Therapy treatments, which these children receive at their local treatment centers, are continued in the camp which is conducted by the State Crippled Children's Society.

During the performance refreshments were served by the Jaycees. The 50-50 club conducted by the chapter was concluded and won by Jean Rentzel, of town.

Miss Judith Holder, Coshocton, Ohio, is spending some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chester S. Byers and family, E. Myrtle St.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rudisill and daughter, Marianne, E. Myrtle St., have returned home after spending several days in Lynton Hall, Bristow, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Harner, Cemetery St., have returned home from a twelve-day visit with the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gordon and family, Conoga Park, Calif. They also visited Disneyland and were present for the TV program "Queen for a Day" in Hollywood. The Gordons and the Harners were guests for two days of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roth and family, Topanga Canyon, Calif., at the Chalet at Crestline and Gregory Lake, Calif. The trip was made to the west coast by plane.

Joe had some likeable qualities, those who knew him say. All agree he was a shooting soldier capable of commanding a battalion anywhere. But as a general and theater commander, his own diary reveals him floundering in deep water from the day he arrived in China.

The clash of these two vastly different personalities with their conflicting theories of warfare and their dissenting estimates of the Chinese situation is a part of America's sad failure in the Orient.

Had the positions of Stilwell and Chennault been reversed, the story could have been one of success. Chennault was not always wrong.

Vinegar Joe, on the other hand, made just about every mistake in the book, strategic, logistic, and personal. One does not get on with an ally by referring to him orally and in writing as "the peanut," Stilwell's name for Chiang Kai-shek. He quarreled with Chiang Kai-shek over support for the Red Chinese.

These are mistakes that Chennault, the country school teacher turned soldier would have never dreamed of making. He enjoys the confidence of all who worked with him unto this day. Mme. Chiang Kai-shek visited him recently in the hospital.

CHENNAULT'S THIRD STAR
Ailing General Could Have Changed History — Stilwell's Promotion A Major Disaster
THE DEATH BED rank of lieutenant general, retired, bestowed last week upon Claire Lee Chennault by a belatedly thoughtful Congress is a little help.

The old China hand, in a New Orleans hospital, is now fighting a long delaying action against lung cancer.

This third star brings no additional pay or perquisites to him or anyone else. The rank at this stage of the game is almost as empty as the colonel's commission a frivolous Kentucky governor gave to actress Mae West.

It does serve as a reminder that a third or fourth star on Chennault's shoulder, in 1942, could have changed the course of world history.

Had Claire Chennault been designated China - Burma - India theater commander and American chief-of-staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, instead of Lieut. Gen. J. W. (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell, results may not have been good but they could not have been worse.

IT IS NOT of record that Chennault was seriously considered. But the army never completely ignores the name of the top man on the ground. Chennault, as a retired U. S. Army captain, soldier of fortune, and a general officer in the Chinese Nationalist Army had been definitely the most widely known, top American in China from days when Vinegar Joe Stilwell was an unknown brigadier at Fort Sam Houston.

But the very factors that had made Chennault a general in the Chinese forces were of a disqualifying character for high American command in military minds as doctrinaire as those of the old line Regulars.

When the then chief-of-staff, Gen. Geo. C. Marshall, looked at the Chennault folder, he found no studies at the War College. There was no diploma from the Command and General Staff College. Chennault was not a graduate of West Point or of anything since a short course in a Louisiana State Normal.

Officially, Chennault was a down-and-out, backstairs Regular from civil life without even the dignity of having risen from the ranks.

CHENNAULT'S military dossier revealed he had quit a Texas high school teaching job at age 27 to enter a World War I officers' training camp. From first lieutenant of infantry he transferred to flight training in the infant air branch of the Signal Corps.

By 1936 he was a temporary major and an Air Corps gadfly. He harbored an old-fashioned theory that the way to keep from getting bombed was to send up teams of fighter planes to shoot down the bomber. He wrote a non-conformist book on air combat.

HE ADVOCATED and demonstrated stunt flying. The old Regulars frowned with disgust. It was exhibitionism of a vulgar sort, dangerous, and might wreck valuable equipment.

Thus, when an annual physical found Chennault with a tin ear he was shelved on the pittance pay of a retired permanent captain—a free agent but subject to recall in case of war.

Chennault exercised that freedom by going to China as an air advisor to Chiang Kai-shek. From this he rose rapidly to a world figure as commander of Nationalist China's Air Force. His "Flying Tiger" group, composed of other soldiers of fortune, gave lustre to fame.

Came Pearl Harbor Chennault was re-called to active duty, promoted and given command of air forces in the C. B. I. theater.

FOR COMMAND of the theater, however, General Marshall sent out a most unimaginative and saturnine old field officer and personal friend, Vinegar Joe Stilwell.

Joe had some likeable qualities, those who knew him say. All agree he was a shooting soldier capable of commanding a battalion anywhere. But as a general and theater commander, his own diary reveals him floundering in deep water from the day he arrived in China.

The clash of these two vastly different personalities with their conflicting theories of warfare and their dissenting estimates of the Chinese situation is a part of America's sad failure in the Orient.

Had the positions of Stilwell and Chennault been reversed, the story could have been one of success. Chennault was not always wrong.

Vinegar Joe, on the other hand, made just about every mistake in the book, strategic, logistic, and personal. One does not get on with an ally by referring to him orally and in writing as "the peanut," Stilwell's name for Chiang Kai-shek. He quarreled with Chiang Kai-shek over support for the Red Chinese.

Littlestown BAND, CHORUS PERFORM FOR JAYCEES FETE

The Spring Garden Band of York was the program feature at the eighth annual music festival sponsored by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce last evening on Memorial Field. Martin L. Keller was conductor of the 50-piece band. He was introduced by Clyde W. Crouse, president of the Jaycees. The 40-voice chorus appeared under the direction of Ralph Woolley.

The program was as follows: March, "Sempre Fidelis," J. P. Sousa; "Overture for Band," Joseph W. Jenkins; "Burlesca"—on theme of Hearts and Flowers, arranged by H. Walters; soprano solo, "Invitation to the Dance," Von Weber, Janet Kiser, soloist, who then sang an encore; "Beguine for Band," Glenn Osser; "Song of Jupiter," arr. Leroy Anderson; march, "Mahlon," arr. Don Miller; "Over There Fantasia," based on World War I songs, arr. Feder Profe; "Tambour," C. C. White; selections from "My Fair Lady," Frederick Loewe; "America, Our Heritage," Helen Steele. The last two numbers were by the York Chorus and Band.

Designs State Dress
During intermission, President Crouse announced that a Jayceette costume designed by his sister, Mrs. John F. Peeser, Jr., of town, had been chosen as the official costume of the state in the recent competition for Pennsylvania at Harrisburg. The Jayceette dress is navy blue with a full skirt, gold pinaflore trimmed in navy rick-rack, and a gold bonnet with navy rick-rack. A Keystone crest is on the pinaflore front. The dress will be modeled at the Middle Atlantic Jaycee Convention in Allentown on September 28.

The entertainment continued with a march "The Presidents," Henry Fillmore; "Chorale and Alleluia," Howard Hanson; trombone solos, Robert Snyder with his own arrangement of "Embraceable You," and an encore; "Colonel Bogey on Parade," Kenneth Alford; "March of the Siamese Children," Richard Rodgers; selections from "The Music Man," Meredith Willson; the following three numbers by the York Chorus, accompanied by Frank Renault, pianist—"Once In Love With Amy," arr. Aides; "Dry Bones," arr. Gearhart; "Without a Song," Youman-Diehl; "Voice of Freedom," Lucian Calliet, band and chorus; finale, "Star Spangled Banner," band and chorus.

During the performance refreshments were served by the Jaycees. The 50-50 club conducted by the chapter was concluded and won by Jean Rentzel, of town.

C. O. C. To Meet
The Littlestown Chapter of Commerce will meet at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening in the Alpha engine house. It is important that all merchants be in attendance, as announced by the president, Clarence J. Krichen Sr.

The annual picnic of Grace Lutheran Church, Two Taverns, will be held on Saturday, August 2. Fried chicken and baked ham suppers will be served family style. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 65 cents for children. Music will be by the Gettysburg Junior High School Band.

Miss Judith Holder, Coshocton, Ohio, is spending some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chester S. Byers and family, E. Myrtle St.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rudisill and daughter, Marianne, E. Myrtle St., have returned home after spending several days in Lynton Hall, Bristow, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Harner, Cemetery St., have returned home from a twelve-day visit with the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gordon and family, Conoga Park, Calif. They also visited Disneyland and were present for the TV program "Queen for a Day" in Hollywood. The Gordons and the Harners were guests for two days of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roth and family, Topanga Canyon, Calif., at the Chalet at Crestline and Gregory Lake, Calif. The trip was made to the west coast by plane.

Let's Look At The Record

CHENNAULT'S THIRD STAR
Ailing General Could Have Changed History — Stilwell's Promotion A Major Disaster
THE DEATH BED rank of lieutenant general, retired, bestowed last week upon Claire Lee Chennault by a belatedly thoughtful Congress is a little help.

The old China hand, in a New Orleans hospital, is now fighting a long delaying action against lung cancer.

This third star brings no additional pay or perquisites to him or anyone else. The rank at this stage of the game is almost as empty as the colonel's commission a frivolous Kentucky governor gave to actress Mae West.

THE SHADOWS

There could be no shadows without light. Artists find contrasts in Nature. This, however, is the opportunity and privilege of us all. Nature is our silent teacher. She gives lessons without our knowledge. Her inspiration is worldwide.

If we go forward in the sunlight, the shadows can be made to fall behind. When the sun shines on the fields and bathes the valleys, only in climbing the cliffs do we get the wonderful shadows! In the winter time, when there is plenty of snow, we get the beautiful designs that the trees and other objects create.

There comes to us sometimes a darkness of heart, but so long as there is a living hope and an eternal love in the world there will be light that will creep its way into the hearts of us all. How we love the contrasts in Nature! I love to watch the clouds as they seem at times to make a dive into the pool below them, and then rise re-created to bask in the sunshine.

Shadows are endless in their designs, and how softly they place themselves, as though they were to be said by the yard! Shadows are substance; even though they melt away, each one is self-assured that it will return another day, newly garbed, and more friendly than ever!

We are not yet spiritually intelligent enough to translate all that a shadow or a star can mean. Perhaps in God's Interpreter's House the knowledge sought might be revealed! Meanwhile we may well lose ourselves in the mystery and beauty of shadows and perhaps take our first lesson in understanding. Oh, what is man?

Just Folks

TO THE FLODDER
Just another step ahead,
Falter not, my lad!
Just another pace to tread
Though the road is bad.
If you will but turn the bend,
There I'm sure you'll find
All your troubles at an end,
Rest and peace of mind.

Just another step to take;
Do not weaken now.
Just another grade to make;
Struggle up somehow.
There, beyond the hill await
Rest and perfect peace;
Once beyond the golden gate
All your troubles cease.

Faint of heart and body sore,
Never mind, my lad!
Other men have gone before,
Other men have had
All the burdens that you bear;
Now in peace they dwell.
Just another step, and there
Fame, and all is well.

County History— More Genealogical Notes

By B. F. M. MacPherson

The notes on the Boyd-Tate-McMordie family, begun in last week's column, are continued at this time.

David, the eldest son of Francis McMordie, who became the owner of his grandfather's plantation, located in what is now Cumberland Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, is not mentioned in his father's will. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that his father had, apparently, given him the above mentioned plantation before he (Francis McMordie) emigrated to Mercer County, Kentucky. David McMordie, in his turn, sold the land to James A. Thompson and Andrew Heintzelman.

Janet (Boyd-Cochran) McMordie, widow of the Rev. Robert McMordie, died at her home in Franklin Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, June 2, 1808, in the 78th year of her age. She is buried in Black's Graveyard (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) and her grave, as well as that of her husband and daughter, Margaret McMordie, is well marked.

Writes Will In 1806
In her will, which was written September 30, 1806, and entered to probate January 27, 1806, Janet McMordie mentions the following members of her family:

1. Son — Francis McMordie, "sixty pounds."
2. Son — Robert McMordie.
3. Grandchildren — Robert and Janet McMordie, "the two eldest children of my son, Francis McMordie."

4. Son — Adam McMordie "five pounds."
5. Son — John McMordie "five pounds."
6. Grandson — Robert Armstrong "fifteen pounds."
7. Grandson — Francis Armstrong "fifteen pounds."

(Note: — The two grandsons mentioned above were the sons of Janet McMordie, who married Quintain Armstrong.)

8. Grandson — Robert McMordie, "the son of my son, Robert McMordie."

9. Daughter — "Agnes McMordie intermarried with the Rev. William Speer, to have my negro woman, my riding mare, and all my silver spoons."

10. "The residue of my estate to be divided between my two daughters, Jean (or Janet) Boyd Armstrong and Agnes Speer."

Margaret, the eldest daughter of the Rev. Adam and Jane (Craighead) Boyd, and sister of Janet (Boyd-Cochran) McMordie, was married, on December 15, 1748, to the Rev. Joseph Tate.

Prominent Presbyterians

Both Rev. Joseph Tate and his brother-in-law, the Rev. Robert McMordie, married into a family long prominent in the early Presbyterian church in this country. The Rev. Adam Boyd was the minister at Octorara, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and his wife, Jane (Craighead) Boyd, was the daughter of the Rev. Thomas Craighead, of Chester County, Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Joseph Tate was born in the North of Ireland but came to this country as a comparatively young man after completing his theological studies in Europe. He settled in the Province of Pennsylvania and was received as a licentiate in Donegal Presbytery on April 1, 1748. He was first sent to preach "at Marsh Creek, Cone-wago, and Lower Pennsboro." On June 14, 1748, he received a call from Donegal Presbytery Church, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. About this time, however, the Rev. Andrew Bay brought serious charges against Rev. Tate touching his orthodoxy. Mr. Tate succeeded in defending himself against these, and in retaining the "confidence of his brethren." He was tried before Presbytery and acquitted, October 25, 1748. Immediately afterward he accepted the call to the Donegal Church and was installed there November 23, 1748. Less than a month later he married Margaret Boyd.

Expires In 1774
After a long and successful ministry at Donegal Church the Rev. Joseph Tate died at his farm at Maytown, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, October 11, 1774, in the 33rd year of his age. He was survived by his wife, Margaret (Boyd) Tate, and the following children:

1. Son — Matthew Tate — went to England, entered holy orders, and became a priest in the Church of England (Episcopal). Returned to America and had a parish at Beauford, South Carolina, where he died October 2, 1795.

2. Son — Adam Tate — lived and died at Maytown, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.

3. Son — John Tate — emigrated to Kentucky.

4. Son — Benjamin Tate — emigrated to Virginia.

5. Daughter — Jane Tate married James Anderson, a grandson of the Rev. James Anderson.

6. Daughter — Margaret Tate married, March 28, 1779, to Captain David McQueen. During the War of the American Revolution, the British while serving with the famous "Flying Camp." After his exchange he served in Colonel Laurey's Battalion and was at the battles of Long Island, Brandywine, and King's Bridge. After the war Captain McQueen and his family moved to what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania.

7. Daughter — Sarah Tate. James, the son of the Rev. James Anderson, was first married to Ruth Bayly, the sister of John and James Bayly, and they were the parents of a large family. One of their sons, James Anderson, married Jane, the daughter of Rev. Joseph and Margaret (Boyd) Tate. Ruth (Bayly) Anderson died January 2, 1784, in the 62nd year of her age. Within a year after her death her husband, James Anderson, died.

Adam, the second son of the Rev. Joseph and Margaret (Boyd) Tate, lived on his father's plantation at Maytown, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. When he died, in 1827, he was buried near his parents in Donegal Churchyard. The inscription from the marker at his grave is as follows:

"In memory of

Son of the Rev. Joseph Tate, former Pastor of Donegal Congregation, who departed this life
the 9th of February, 1827.
In the 74th year of his age.

He was an affectionate husband and kind friend. He was truly patriotic in the cause of his country. And he was a firm, sincere Christian, which he evinced by his patience and submission to the will of his Heavenly Father, under severe pain and affliction, and in his last moments resigned his soul into the hands of his dear Redeemer and Blessed Mediator."

This concludes the notes on the Boyd-Tate-McMordie family. The historical and genealogical study of Black's (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) burial ground will be continued next week.

LEWISBURG MAN AWAITS CORNEA PLANT RESULTS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Physicians at the Veterans Hospital here said Friday it will too early to tell whether they had been successful in an operation transplanting the cornea of a dead man's eye to the right eye of H. Fred O'Donnell of Lewisburg, Pa.

The surgery was performed last July 9, but the bandages have not yet been removed. A hospital spokesman said O'Donnell is "in fine spirits." He will be hospitalized indefinitely, the spokesman said.

O'Donnell first came to the hospital here last March. But he was sent home and was told to remain on call. As soon as the hospital was in possession of an eye they promised to notify him.

Late on the afternoon of July 8, O'Donnell received the good word. He checked into the hospital on midnight of the 9th, and was operated on that same day. The reason for the rush, a spokesman said, was that these operations have to be performed within a certain span of time or the cornea transplant won't succeed.

Meanwhile, at home, Mrs. O'Donnell waits anxiously with their four children for word on whether her husband will see again.

She said she is confident the operation was a success and her husband will be able to see from the eye soon.

He lost most of his sight when his eye became infected during World War II.

Slight Decrease In Jobless Claims

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Employment Security Bureau reported new claims for unemployment compensation dropped off slightly during the week ended July 18.

The bureau said new claims totaled 42,647, about 300 less than the previous week. Vacation shutdowns and staggered work schedules in some industries prevented a greater decline, the bureau added.

3 Fatalities For Farm Safety Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Farm Safety Week entered its final day today with three farm fatalities already reported.

The Safety Week Committee extended sympathy Friday to the relatives of three farm children who drowned in Butler County. "Our hope is that it will serve as a caution to parents and to all farm people and that there may be no more such fatalities," the committee said.

Pennsylvania counted three farm fatalities during Farm Safety Week last year.

3,500 Guardsmen Heading For Home

INDIAN TOWN GAP, Pa. (AP) — Nearly 3,500 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen began heading home today after ending their two-week annual summer encampment.

Maj. Gen. A. J. Drexel Biddle, adjutant general of Pennsylvania, praised the guardsmen, declaring their work "met the standards prescribed by the Army and, in many instances, far exceeded the efforts expected of citizen-soldiers."

Those ending their training belonged to non-divisional units of the guard, headed by the 11th Regimental Combat Team from the Philadelphia area.

CLARK AGAINST BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa.) voted against the farm bill which passed the Senate, 62-11 Friday night.

Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) did not vote but was announced as for passage of the measure.

BUILDING AND FARM

Strawberries Beds Need Attention Now For Next Year; Poultry Range Tips

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

If you plan to keep your strawberry bed another year, it will need some attention right after harvest.

Several steps should be taken in renewing a strawberry bed. They are:

Retaining mulch is necessary. Cut off leaves of the plants with a hand sickle or a mower with blade set high so it won't injure plant crowns.

Get Weeds Out
Narrow the matted row of plants with a spade or tiller, leaving a row of plants 6 inches wide. Make the row 8 to 10 inches wide if it's mid-summer.

Cultivate the middles thoroughly and weed the row. Get every weed.

Fertilize, especially if the plants don't appear vigorous and berries harvested earlier were small. Use a fertilizer high in nitrogen. If a nitrogen fertilizer is used, apply it at a rate of about 2 pounds for every 50 feet of row. For a complete fertilizer, such as 10-10-10, the rate should be about 3 pounds for every 50 feet of row. Apply the fertilizer along each side of the row, plus some in the row. Brush it off plant leaves and crowns with a broom.

If it's dry and water is available, water the planting thoroughly. Continue watering as long as it's dry. Wet the soil to a depth of 5 to 6 inches each time. This usually takes about an inch of water over the area.

Large plantings may justify the use of weed sprays. Apply these according to manufacturer's directions. They work best when the soil is moist.

If a single plant system is used instead of matted rows for growing strawberries, cut off the runners and keep the planting cultivated.

Range Program Reduces Cost

Pennsylvania poultrymen who have provided satisfactory ranges for growing chickens and turkeys have reported substantial savings in the amount of growing mash feed needed to grow their birds to maturity successfully. Another consideration in reducing costs on good range is the possibility of feeding a more economical mash mixture, one containing less of the special ingredients that are high in protein and vitamin value.

Green, succulent, tender grass is a good source of vitamin A, riboflavin and other water soluble vitamins. Then, too, a range composed of clovers and bluegrass furnishes protein, calcium, phosphorus. An analysis of 25 per cent protein, on a dry basis, was found in samples taken from good poultry pastures. Ground well covered with a heavy sod of the right kind of clovers and grasses keeps the birds from coming in contact with bare ground. This helps reduce the hazards of parasites and diseases. Deep, yellow color of skin is desired for birds grown for either meat or egg production, and those consuming large quantities of green forage will have better pigmentation than those grown on bare ground or a poor range.

The following program should be followed to make the best use of grass ranges:

If brooder house is on grass range, let chicks outdoors as soon as grass has a good start and chicks are old enough.

Provide range shelters for pullets 8 to 12 weeks of age when brooder house cannot be moved on grass range.

If pullets are placed in hay field, cut grass for hay early, at least cut strips where shelters are placed. Mow as frequently as is practical for type of sod.

Move feeders and water containers frequently to encourage pullets to pasture over whole area.

Pasture Quality Governs Intake

Quality of pasture determines to a large extent how much forage a dairy cow will consume. While some cows will consistently eat as much as 200 pounds of young forage daily, most will consume about 12 per cent of their body weight daily, on excellent pasture.

This figure drops to approximately 10 and 7 per cent for good and fair pastures, respectively. Over-matured or over-grazed pastures will often allow for an intake of only 5 per cent or less of a cow's body weight daily.

These estimates mean that the amount of forage consumed by a 1,200 pound cow may vary from about 145 pounds, to as little as 60 pounds or less daily, depending on pasture quality. This emphasizes the need for supplementary feeding of roughage and grain on many dairy farms during a large portion of the pasture season.

Phoenix, Ariz., maintains a "city" park as a recreation area for its citizens and tourists. It is 85 miles outside the city limits of Phoenix.

FAMILY POOLS ARE AVAILABLE ON EASY TERMS

Mrs. V. C. Hughes, Guernsey, is the local area agent for the latest national backyard boom, the private family swimming pool, of which more than 50,000 were installed last year.

Family pools come in four sizes ranging from a 12' by 27' size with a depth of either 3 to 5 feet or 3 to 7 feet, through two medium pools at 16' x 34' with a 3 to 7 foot depth and 20' x 40' with a depth at 3 to 8 feet.

Prices begin at $1,590 installed for the small pool including a filter. Accessories such as a ladder, skimmer, underwater light, vacuum, test kit, etc., installed at the time of construction push the price to $1,980, a savings of $105 over the cost of adding them later.

Convert Into Rink

Most Aqua Pools, the trade name of the Hughes product, have a vinyl liner keyed to economical design with a life expectancy of more than 20 years and a guarantee of 5 years. The liner prevents water seepage and eliminates costly flooring and siding. In addition the water need not be drained during the winter so that the summer pool can be changed to a winter skating rink. Plastic liners prevent the cracks due to temperature changes that are the great drawback of the cement pool.

Installation of the Aqua Pool is speedily handled. In most cases the entire job can be completed in five days from the beginning of the excavation. All sorts of coping is available including plastic, cement, or a marbled block.

Ruggedly Built

The Aqua Pools are ruggedly built of 8" poured concrete construction, steel reinforced. Because of the plastic liner the pool requires no painting, caulking or expensive upkeep.

Mrs. Hughes, associated with Hilco Homes, can also provide fiber glass pools beginning at $2,120 installed, and besides the family pools handles city and club installations.

All the pools, Mrs. Hughes said, can be financed over a five-year period with no money down. Approximately 40 per cent of last year's 50,000 nationwide total were built in this way, she said.

Mrs. Hughes has an Aqua Pool on display at her residence at Crestwood.

Fined by PCLB

HARRISBURG (AP)—J. E. Pedlow of Springfield, Delaware County, has been fired from his post as district enforcement chief at Punxsutawney for "conduct unbecoming an officer of the board," the state liquor board reported.

A board official said yesterday the board removed Pedlow from the $7,384 a year post as of Thursday. Pedlow served as acting director of enforcement for the board during World War II.

COMPROMISE FARM BILL IS OK'D BY SENATE

By EDWIN B. HAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A top-heavy Senate vote revived prospects today that this session of Congress will pass a limited farm bill tailored to escape a presidential veto.

The compromise measure passed the Senate Friday night by a lopsided 62-11 margin after three days and nights of sometimes bitter debate. It now goes to the House, which earlier declined to consider a measure of broader proportions.

As passed by the Senate, the bill generally would provide for lower price supports and fewer government controls over farmers producing cotton, rice, corn and livestock feed grains. Larger output of those crops also would be authorized.

Hailed By Benson
Secretary of Agriculture Benson hailed the Senate action as "a victory for sound principles and a long step in the direction of greater freedom for the nation's farmers."

A previous farm bill passed by the Congress, designed to freeze farm price supports, was vetoed by President Eisenhower March 31. He said to sign the bill "would be ill advised, from the standpoint both of the nation and of our farm families as well." Despite numerous compromises written into the new bill, Sen. Alen J. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, succeeded in limiting the measure to provisions known to fit Benson's policies.

Revises Prediction
For example, it would scrap past unsuccessful attempts to control production of corn and other livestock feed grains, including grain sorghums, oats, rye and barley.

Instead, the bill would provide Benson with more flexible authority to lower the level of federal supports and reduce controls.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture Committee revised an earlier prediction of no major farm legislation at this session, now drawing to a close. He said in an interview that cotton and rice provisions of the Senate bill appeared reasonable. But he expressed some doubt over corn and feed grain sections.

22-Year Continuation
The Senate bill would continue for two years existing price supports of 75 to 90 per cent of parity on cotton. After that supports would be 90 per cent of the average price of one-inch cotton at spot markets but not lower than 30 cents a pound or 60 per cent of parity, whichever is higher.

Parity is a standard declared by law to give farmers a fair price in relation to the cost of things they must buy.

One new provision would permit cotton growers to overplant allotments by 40 per cent but

WATCH TV FOR LOOK AT OTHER SIDE OF MOON

By RALPH DIGHTON
DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—One of these nights you'll be watching TV for a glimpse of something you never thought you'd see—the other side of the moon.

One of the "lunar probe" rockets now being built will go out to the moon, circle it and come back, scanning its surface with a television camera all the while.

The signals from this lunar scanner will be picked up by a giant antenna one arm and put on tape. A few days later, after study by the appropriate authorities, the tape will be released for public viewing.

Won't Say When
This is the prediction of Dr. Donald B. Duncan, head of advanced engineering at the Auto-netics Division of North American Aviation.

Duncan, an expert on space navigation, won't say just when this magic night on television will come—but it may be sooner than you think.

"The first swing around the moon," says Duncan, "may be 100 miles or so above its surface. But even at that distance man will their support would be 15 per cent below that of farmers who stayed within allotments.

Change Plan On Corn
The nation's corn crop could not be less than 16 million acres with another 310,000 added to prevent cuts for small farmers. They could continue to plant up to 10 acres or their 1958 allotments, whichever is lower.

The bill would drop past efforts to control production of corn and livestock feed grains through a system of planting limits and related price supports.

Instead, all corn growers would be assured of a support based on the highest of three alternatives: 90 per cent of the average three-year average, $1.10 a bushel, or 60 per cent of parity.

Other Crops
Producers of grain sorghums, oats, rye would receive a support related to that of corn but not less than 60 per cent of parity.

Rice growers would continue for two years under the 75-90 per cent of parity support, and then shift to the highest of three alternatives—90 per cent of the three-year average, $4 a hundredweight, or 60 per cent of parity.

The measure also contains a four-year extension of the present Wool Subsidy Act, which expires next March, and a two-year extension of the authority to sell an additional three billion dollars of farm surpluses overseas.

MOSCOW (AP)—Edouard Streltsov, onetime idol of Soviet soccer fans, has been sentenced to 12 years in jail for assault.

Komsomol Pravda, the Soviet youth paper, reported the trial Friday but gave no details of the drunken orgy that rocked Soviet sports circles when it was disclosed last month.

Streltsov, former star center forward of the Soviet national soccer team, was the only one charged. The paper said his was the only crime covered by the Soviet criminal code.

Boris Tatushin and Mikhail Ogonkov, teammates of Streltsov, were kicked off the team for taking part in the brawl.

be able to find answers to many of the questions he has asked for centuries: Is there any form of life at all on the moon? Is the far side of the moon, which is always turned away from earth, any different from the side we see almost every night? Would the moon be a feasible space station on our way to the stars?

Later trips, says Duncan, will take the TV camera much closer to the moon's surface. Man eventually will set foot on the moon and the TV tape of that junket, he believes, will record the beginning of a new era for man.

Just how will science do this—make it possible for armchair astronauts to circle the moon, even to "visit" other planets?

"There are at least two ways," Duncan says, "both possible with the instrumentation we already have."

"First, we could record what the TV camera sees on tape and then recover the tape when the space vehicle returns to earth."

"The second, and probably most practical way, would be to transmit live TV impulses in code to a large antenna on earth, then unscramble the code and record the resultant picture on tape."

SAYS CHRISTIAN MINORITY FARES WELL IN CRISIS

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer
How fares the Christian minority in the strife-ridden Moslem Middle East?

"Very well," says Dr. Alford Carleton, executive vice president of the Congregational Christian Churches' Foreign Mission Board. "In fact, the Christian Arabs are every bit as nationalistic as the Moslems."

"The current troubles are not taking religious lines," adds the Rev. Horace M. McMullen, who has spent 11 years in the Middle East. "Furthermore, I don't think they will."

10 Per Cent Christian
Dr. Carleton and the Rev. Mr. McMullen both served as president of Aleppo College in Syria, the former for 17 years until 1954 and the latter for four years until he retired last July 1.

The five Arab states most closely linked to Arab nationalism—Iraq, Jordan, Egypt, Syria and Lebanon—have a total population of about 35 million. Nearly 10 per cent is Christian, mostly in the cities.

In Lebanon, Christians are in the majority with 54 per cent. Syria has a hefty Christian minority of 11 per cent, Egypt and Jordan 8 per cent and Iraq 3 per cent.

"The Arab leaders are conscious of the fact they need both Christians and Moslems behind them," says the Rev. Mr. McMullen. "And they know that the Christian communities are loyal to their governments and to Arab unity as a whole."

There Before Islam
"The Middle East is one place where Christianity is not identified with the West and colonialism. After all, Christianity started there. It was there before Islam."

The word community is frequently heard in discussions of Middle East religions.

To a large extent, Middle East life is organized around religious communities, which handle a surprising amount of their own civil as well as religious affairs—marriage, divorce, etc.

Each religious community of consequence is almost guaranteed a place in the government. In Lebanon, the president must be a Christian, the prime minister a Moslem. Former Syrian Premier Faris Al-Khoury is a Christian.

Fairfield
FAIRFIELD — A surprise bridal shower was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Smith, Fairfield, R. D., for Miss Vera Ann Eversole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eversole.

Fairfield R. 1, whose engagement to Lloyd Sprinkle, Waynesboro, was announced recently.

Those present were Mrs. Richard Eversole, Mrs. Mary Eversole, Mrs. Richard Sprengle, Miss Elizabeth Crouse, Mrs. Ethel Shriner, Mrs. Crawford Bumbaugh, Flora Hull, Nellie, Ekker, Thelma McIntire, Glenda Dearthoff, Mrs. Norman Riley, Mary Elizabeth Hoffman, Jovan Tinsley, Mrs. William Orner, Sally Ginnell, Mrs. Joseph Lowe, Mrs. Helen Pecher, Mrs. Allen Shryock, Alice Detrick, Mrs. John Sprengle and Mrs. Charles Bankert, Virginia Crouse and Laura Lee Martin were unable to be present but sent gifts.

GRASS NOT GREENER
CHICASHA, Okla. (AP) — What's that saying about the grass being greener in the other pasture?

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Black went to Colorado on a fishing vacation and caught only one 3-ounce fish.

As soon as they got home, they tried a near-by fishing hole and caught a big stringer perfect for the pan.
